Explanation of Cuts. No. 1 -- Represents the Joint Compiete, No. 2--A longitudinal sectional view of a full Joint, showing the position of the wood in the socket when wedged, a glance at which must convince the most skeptical of the superiority of this Joint view of the end of the Rod, when turned ready for the socket to be driven on, with the slot for the wedge and the wedge about being entered. No. 4--Represents the end of the wood, and shows the proper way to saw the slot (across the grain) into which the wedge is to be driven.

The above description and secompanying cuts will enable any skilled person to make connection at the wells in a much shorter time than can be done with any other Rod, all the tools required being a small fine saw, one of our hollow augurs and a few of our wedges. The wedges can be procured at any hard-
